

Common Terms (for me at least) I Use Both Online and Offline

NOTE: Most of these words will most likely not be found in any dictionary, not even the popular definition-open dictionary website, "Urban Dictionary". This doesn't necessarily mean these words aren't actual words. Some words may even be recognized as being related to something already created by someone else. I do not take full responsibility for the creation of these words.

Endoexistence (noun): The state of existing inside of the mind.

Other forms:

Endoexistent (adjective)- Existing inside of the mind

Endoexistential (adjective)- Relating to endoexistence

Endoexistentially (adverb)- In a way that relates to endoexistence

Exoexistence (noun): The state of existing outside of the mind.

Other forms

Exoexistent (adjective)- Existing outside of the mind.

Exoexistential (adjective)- Relating to exoexistence.

Exoexistentially (adverb)- In a way that relates to exoexistence.

Exoexistentize (verb): To convert an endoexistent entity to an exoexistent one.

Other Forms:

Exoexistentization (noun)- The process of converting an endoexistent entity to an exoexistent one. This is commonly done via creation of literary works (universe building).

Homocosmic (adjective): Describing two or more entities that are native to the same universe.

Other Forms:

Homocosmicly (adverb)- In a way that is homocosmic.

Homocosmic(s) (noun): Two or more entities that are native to the same universe.

Heterocosmic (adjective): Describing two or more entities that are native to different universes.

Other Forms:

Heterocosmically (adverb)- In a way that is heterocosmic.

Heterocosmic(s) (noun)- Two or more entities that are native to different universes.

Public Universe (noun): A universe (typically created by a person and remotely developed with the help of dozens of other people) that was created for public observation and analysis; a cartoon or other literary work.

Remote Development (noun): The period in which events in a public universe are created by people outside of the universe.

Other forms:

Remotely Develop (verb)- To create events in a public universe while being outside of the universe.

Remotely Developed (adjective)- Describing a public universe that is no longer having events created from outside of the universe.